

Examiner Online
August 9, 2010
Circulation: 7 million Unique Visitors per Month

Nosh at Nanoosh

August 6, 8:06 AM • Manhattan Green Living Examiner • Rachel Northrop

Nanoosh's signature hummus. Almost like a mini-vacation to the Mediterranean

Nanoosh

If you like this ...

Green living in the urban jungle

Living the Green Life: Part 1 of 3

Living the Green Life: Part 2 of 3

View all »

This delightful organic Mediterranean hummus bar seems to be everywhere I go. Walking to work on 1st Avenue I passed on at 66th st, leaving a bar on University Place I saw one across the street, getting out of the C on the Upper West Side another one was staring me in the face. Turns out there's another one on Madison Ave too.

I am always tempted by trendy chains that seem to spring up over night and take over Manhattan, but in the case of Nanoosh I gave in to temptation and felt no guilt afterward. Their food is not only delicious, it is organic and committed to a higher standard to dining. Eat in, take out, or have them cater your next business meeting.

Exploring their website it seems like I'm the only one who hasn't heard about Nanoosh before. They've received praise from all sides and now they're getting mine too. I give them extra kudos because they serve delicious organic wine too, and our server was nice.

Taste for yourself.

follow the Manhattan Green Living Examiner as she braves the wilds of the urban jungle on Twitter @Manhattan\_Green

Nanoosh – Feature